

ONE YEAR AFTER, THANK YOU

FOR YOUR RENEWED COMMITMENT TO END AIDS, TB AND MALARIA

Dear donors,

One year ago today, on September 21st, 2022, you took the stage during the Global Fund 7th Replenishment Conference to announce your pledge to the fight against HIV, TB and Malaria. Advocates in the room, or in front of screens in New York and at home, were cheering at each announcement, knowing that every dollar was saving more lives, and getting us ever closer to the goal of ending the three epidemics.

In 2022, we urged leaders to make ambitious commitments to give the world a fighting chance to catch up on the ground lost during the COVID-19 pandemic. On behalf of civil society and community advocates from around the world, and on behalf of the millions whose lives will be saved in the coming three years, we express our most sincere gratitude to all those who rose to the occasion during the 7th Replenishment and reaffirmed our collective commitment to the fight against the worlds' deadliest diseases.

We want to thank in particular the people and government of:

- The United States, for its commitment and leadership as the host of the 7th Replenishment Conference, and its bold pledge.
- Korea, for their exceptional commitment, quadrupling their 6th Replenishment pledge.
- Germany, Japan, Canada, the European Commission, Spain, Ireland, Saudi Arabia, Luxemburg, South Africa and Kenya for meeting or exceeding the 30% target set in the Investment Case.
- France for remaining the second largest historical donor thanks to an ambitious EUR 1.6 billion pledge.
- Italy, the Netherlands, Australia, and Denmark for the significant increase in their pledges.
- Kuwait, Rwanda, Uganda, the Ivory Coast, and Togo for their increasing commitment to global solidarity.
- Indonesia, Morocco, Malawi, and Tanzania for their first ever pledges to the fight.

The Global Fund has already made extensive progress towards recovering from COVID-19 – as of 2023, the Global Fund has saved 59 million lives, has kept 24.5 million people on antiretroviral therapy for HIV in 2022 and treated 6.7 million people for TB. The partnership in 2022 alone has distributed 220 million mosquito nets. 2022 was, across key indicators, a record year and a clear rebound after the height of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Thanks to your generosity, the fight will be able to continue and intensify in 2024 and beyond.

There is a lot to do.

The fact is that despite our collective best efforts, the world is not on track to meet the 2030 targets on HIV, TB and Malaria; and though the 7th Replenishment was the largest on record, it did fall short of the $18 billion target that would have prevented us from sliding further. And yet there is hope. The response to COVID-19 has sparked an unprecedented wave of innovations that are already bearing the promises of new tools with the potential to revolutionize the fight against the three diseases. It has shown once again the resilience of affected communities and the effectiveness of their grassroots efforts. With your help, we will be able to keep scaling up our interventions and seize emerging opportunities to accelerate the fight.

Your commitments will change and save lives. For this, we and the world are grateful.

With our deepest and most sincere regards,
